The Judicial Bill Which Divides Kentucky Into Two Districts, Passes The Senate.

RETURNS TO THE HOUSE.

Believed It Will Reach The President and Be Signed by Him on Tuesday.

ADVOCATES OF THE BILL DELIGHTED.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The Kentucky judicial bill, which divides the state into two districts, has passed the senate. It was enacted today and now goes to the house, which first passed the act, for concurrence in the senate amendments. It will, it is believed reach the president before Tuesday, or by that date, and immediately receive his signature.

The advocates of the bill are delighted over the fact it is so near the law.

AMIDST POMP

The Remains of Queen Victoria Were Removed From Portsmouth to London Today.

SERVICES AT WINDSOR.

Body To Lie in State Until Monday Afternoon, and Then Be Entombed at Frogmore.

GREAT JAM OF PEOPLE AT CAPITAL.

London, Feb. 2.—With the all pomp befitting such an occasion all that was mortal of the late Queen Victoria was brought from Portsmouth today and borne in a brilliant pageant through London streets. From Paddington Station the funeral party proceeded to Windsor, where the funeral services were held. The body is still at Windsor and will lie in state there until Monday afternoon, when they will be removed to the tomb in the royal mausoleum at Frogmore.

There was never such a jam of humanity on the streets of London. The crowd is so thronged that scores have been injured in the crush and others will fare as badly.

Major Bessendale, a veteran officer, fell dead from excitement just before the funeral train arrived.

There has been not the least indication of an anarchistic attempt on any of the royal party. There is the greatest precaution, however, in evidence.

ANOTHER SPECIAL

RAYMOND & WHITCOMB RUN

ANOTHER THROUGH

To the South—Reported Double Track to Be Built From Jackson, Tennessee.

Another Raymond & Whitcomb special train, from Boston, New York and Philadelphia and other eastern points, passed through the city about 10 o'clock this morning, en route to Mexico and California.

Train-master J. J. Flynn came down on the special from Central City, and Trainmaster J. A. Frates, of Fulton district, came up and went down on it.

The wrecking car was sent down to Newbern, Tenn., this morning to place a freight car, turned over by a switch engine, back on the track.

A Jackson, Tenn., special says: Colonel Stuyvesant Fish, president of the Illinois Central railroad; J. T. Harahan, second vice-president and manager; C. D. Hamill, a Chicago financier; Gilbert G. Thorne, vice president of the Park National bank, New York, and Sidney Kennedy, clerk to Mr. Harahan, were in Jackson yesterday en route from New Orleans.

The distinguished party of railroad men were on an inspection tour of their lines. It was learned their purpose is to establish a double track, and this would come out of the $6,000,000 recently appropriated by the company for improvements.

Telegraph wires were run into the new Illinois Central depot at Fulton, Ky., yesterday.

Famous Famines of the World.

The worst famines of modern times were the famine in Ireland in 1846-7, in which 1,000,000 people perished; the Indian famine in 1866, which claimed 1,450,000 victims; the Indian famine in 1877, in which 500,000 people perished, and the great famine in China in 1878, in which 9,500,000 died.

China has still the old-fashioned system of private letter carrying. Letter shops are to be found in every town. If he had a letter to send the Chinaman goes to a letter shop and bargains with the keeper thereof. He pays two-thirds of the cost, leaving the receiver to pay the rest on delivery.

New Industry in Prospect.

The establishment of the Angora hair-weaving industry in South Africa is, it is said, contemplated by Mr. Cecil Rhodes. A factory is to be erected in the neighborhood of Kimberley, and a full installation of machinery has been ordered, with instructions for its shipment immediately on the conclusion of the war.—East London (Cape Colony) Dispatch.

THE WEEK

In Commercial Circles Has Been a Quiet One, but Comparatively Good.

THE BREWERY RUNNING

The Knitting Mills Will Soon Be Completed and Ready for Work—Forked Deer Pants Co.'s New Home.

THE TOBACCO AND GENERAL NEWS

General trade was a little dull this week. The banks were not so busy and mail business was dull. Counter business showed the dullness, but clearings were up to the season's average. They were: $393,048.61.

The retail trade is experiencing mid-winter dullness, but business is up to normal, everything considered. One prominent retailer reports a 50 per cent increase in his January business over 1900. As a whole the month was very satisfactory to most every line.

The wholesale trade reports little change in business, but conditions up to expectations, while the manufacturers are, most of them, rushed with orders.

The brewery is now running and soon a Paducah beer will be offered to the public. The plant of the new company is a splendid one and a great success for the concern seems beyond question of a doubt.

The Alden Knitting mills will have all their machinery installed by the first of March and will soon be completed ready for a run. The building is a fine one and quite an addition to Paducah's rapidly growing commercial interests.

The Forked Deer Pants company has commenced work on their new plant on Ninth and Harrison. The company is doing a fine business and enlarged quarters were imperative.

Work on the new theater, The Kentucky, will soon commence and be rushed to completion. It will be ready for occupancy October 1.

TOBACCO.

The offerings this week were all new tobacco with lugs predominating. Prices tend to a good level. Loose tobacco is coming in freely.

Inspector Miller reports as follows: Receipts for week, 144 hogheads. Receipts for year, 613 hogheads. Offerings for week, 79 hogheads. Rejections for week, 20 hogheads. Private sales for week, 0 hogheads. Sales for week, 39 hogheads. Sales for year, 257 hogheads.

CATHOLIC MISSION.

FATHERS LAMBERT AND MINCH MEETING WITH SUCCESS AT MAYFIELD.

Father Lambert, a missionary at large of the Catholic church, and Father Minch, of Hickman, Ky., are holding a successful mission at Mayfield.

Considerable interest is being taken in the meetings, and the crowds are so great that the services today will be held in the court house to accommodate them.

Five Trips Across.

JONES WAS LITERALLY "HALF SEAS OVER" FOR SIX MONTHS.

New York, Feb. 2.—After making five trips across the ocean from England in an effort to get to his home in Tenafly, N. J., Joseph Jones finally has reached the much desired destination.

Six months ago a relative of Jones died in England, leaving him $1,300. He started for London immediately to get his bequest. Being somewhat of a drinking man, and not knowing what would happen if he should get under the influence of liquor on board ship, Jones took only enough spending money to meet expenses on the way back from England. The balance was a legacy was to be remitted to him later.

Jones landed in New York penniless, and all efforts to reach his wife by letter were fruitless. The authorities, believing him a pauper, deported him to England.

The unfortunate man made a second attempt to land here, taking a steamer to Boston. The authorities there also objected to Jones, and again the Jerseyvillian went back to England.

Jones was determined to get to Tenafly, however, and two months ago he sailed for St. John's, N. F., where he landed without trouble. He had a draft for $300 with him, but this he could not cash because no one could identify him. Having no ready money Jones was in another predicament, but he started out bravely to walk home.

Freight trains aided him some, and he landed in Tenafly on Saturday almost a wreck. No one could identify him, even in his home until he had passed through the hands of a barber.

Jones was even yet to receive another disappointment and surprise, for on reaching home he learned that Mrs. Jones was in another predicament, but he started out bravely to walk home.

ELMENDORFF ACCQUITTED.

THERE WAS NO INCRIMINATING EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM.

Ernest Elmendorff, who was alleged to have been in league with J. C. Lowe and Charles Hicks, the young men held over for working the "short change" trick at several places, was tried before Judge Sanders and acquitted. The evidence against the other two is quite plain, but against Elmendorff it was insufficient.

Mary Johnson, colored, was tried on a charge of robbing G. T. Howard, colored, of a dollar. She was held to answer and released on her own recognizance.

SATURDAY FEB. 2, 1901.

The reward commission is fingered that $100,000 steal again. There is danger of some of them yet getting their fingers stuck.

An elegant floral tribute from President McKinley was among those placed about Queen Victoria's bier today.

The worker of the recent corner in the New York cotton market is said to be a "boy only 27 years old." The ages of the men who in turn will work "that boy" are not given, but that they will "do" aim requires only time. The "doers" in Wall street have less respect for youth than for age.

If whiskey drinking ever produced such a chronic epidemic of anarchy and lawlessness as has characterized the conduct of those frenzied bifurcated fends that have seemingly captured Kansas history has failed to make any record of it. If the intrepid females want to get action for their money, however, let them try their iconoclastic tactics in Kentucky! They can find plenty of saloons to smash—and there'd be plenty at the smashing.

Minnesota promises sweeping reforms in its marriage laws and may set an example which other states will follow. In the Minnesota legislature a bill has been introduced which throws many restrictions around marriage which, in the opinion of doctors, will do much to weed out disease and crime. The bill provides that marriage shall not be allowed between persons where each one is or has been subject to fits of any kind, insanity or any loathsome disease, and further provides that a certificate of a physician showing applicants are fit to wed shall accompany all applications for a marriage license. This measure places the age limit for women at 43, but no provision is made for men as regards age. The penalty for violation is a fine of $1,000 or five years in the penitentiary, or both. It applies to the persons who marry as well as the clergyman or justice performing the ceremony. The proposed law is a most admirable one.

Mrs. Nation's saloon smashing capers is bringing down upon Kansas some criticism which will hurt the state's prosperity if it does not effect the people—does not awaken them to a realization of the tendency of such conduct. A sample of this criticism may be cited. It appears in the Philadelphia Times, which says: "Nowhere in the world but in Kansas could we look for the phenomenon of an entire commonwealth terrorized by one virago, who goes about smashing property with an axe and lashing officials with her tongue. * * * Smashing windows and furniture, on the other hand, would seem to be within the reach of the most ordinary criminal statutes, and the absolute paralysis of authority, whereby Mrs. Nation is allowed to smash things at her pleasure, hindered only by the corresponding violence of the owners of the property destroyed, must be regarded as characteristic of Kansas civilization. It represents the same spirit that burns negroes at the stake, and generally indulges in any violence that seems proper to the individual or to a mob of individuals, without regard for the orderly restraints of law." Kansas should stop and think. There is need for reformation.

MAKING OUR MONEY HONEST.

As the Sun indicated a few days since the house committee on currency has reported favorably the Overstreet bill directing the secretary of the treasury to maintain the parity of the silver dollars by redeeming them in gold on demand. Silver dollars so redeemed are to be paid out again only in exchange for gold. In other words, the Overstreet bill will guarantee the honesty of the silver dollar by putting behind it enough gold to equal the difference between its face and its intrinsic value.

Such a law is needed to secure the country against the danger of repudiation by executive order. As the law now stands, McKinley could, if he desired, seriously impair, if not destroy, the gold standard by ordering current payments made and certain bonds paid in silver. Mr. Bryan, during the recent campaign, refused to deny that, if elected, he would issue such an order. Circumstances may be easily imagined which might induce a president, in order to relieve a supposed necessity, to adopt such a policy. Congress should relieve future presidents of the temptation under which the existing law leaves them.

The Overstreet bill should and will be passed at the present session of congress. There is now no complaint of a deficient supply of currency. That fact deprives of their only element of plausibility the arguments which the radical silverites are certain to make against the bill. If passed now the bill will have been in operation fully twenty months when the elections of 1902 are held. The arguments against it will have been fully thrashed out and refuted, and its merits will be clearly understood. Its opponents will not be able to deceive the people by representing it as a new and probably dangerous measure. The history of the McKinley tariff bill shows the importance of giving the public time to understand new measures before being called upon to pass judgment on them at the polls. The facts that large bodies move slowly and that 15,000,000 voters require considerable time to form a sound judgment on important legislation must be remembered.

The stability of public and private credit demands the passage of the Overstreet bill. It is needed to make every dollar of our currency honest and as good as gold. It is needed to protect future presidents from the delusion that any supposed emergency can justify tampering with the currency. Considerations of practical politics demand that such a measure be passed at this session of congress. The Republican party is pledged to honest money and the gold standard. That pledge the Republican congress must keep, and it should act promptly and in a manner that will give time to refute any cavils of its adversaries.

Record As Fought-Bah.
Eugene Hansmann probably holds the record as a Poo Bah, for he occupies every office, public and private, in Maplewood, a suburb of St. Louis. He is a justice of the peace and as such appointed himself a constable. Besides, he is the coroner, the notary public and the postmaster. As a private citizen he is a lawyer, a collector, a storekeeper and a station, express, insurance and real estate agent. Hansmann holds no higher office than justice of the peace, because there is none.

MONUMENT TO THE WOMEN

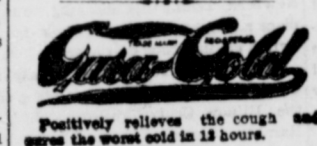

MOVEMENT STARTED BY COLONEL ANDREWS TO HONOR THE CONFEDERATE WOMEN.

Colonel Garnett Andrews, of Chattanooga, Tenn., prominent as a member of the United Confederate Veterans, and well known throughout the south as one of its foremost lawyers, is at work on the details of a plan which he will present to the next encampment of the United Confederate Veterans, looking toward the erection of the most costly monument in the United States to commemorate the valor and fidelity of the confederate women.

The agitation among confederate veterans to build a great monument to the confederate women had its beginning; Decoration Day at Chattanooga two years ago, when Colonel Andrews, the orator of the occasion, made it the theme of his address. Afterward at the general convention at Louisville the United Confederate Veterans, approved the undertaking, but no plan of action was adopted.

WRITTEN AT

RANDOM

"Did I ever tell you that little experience a friend of mine had last summer over at the Paris exposition?" asked a smug looking drummer of yesterday, as he finished his sandwich and coffee, and leaning leisurely against the counter, comfortably crossed his legs and puffed serenely at a ten-center the house was paying for.

"Well," he began, "having received a reply in the negative," he went over to see the big show, you know, and the last week he was there saw a swell looking young lady pass. He thought he detected a smile in her glance, so he smiled back. It happened that he saw her again the next day near the same place, and this time there was no mistake. She certainly smiled. As she was a swell looking lady he was badly hit, and began haunting the locality to watch for her. The next day he was "rubbering" around, actually searching for her, when he espied the fair stranger approaching in a carriage. She smiled, encouragingly bowed, and determining not to let her escape him this time, he wended his way towards the manifestly pleased young beauty. She showed her faultless teeth as she coquetishly handed him a card and without further ado ordered the coachman to drive on, smiling back at him again as she vanished.

"Jack—he's my friend, you know—didn't know a word of French, and the writing on the card was in French. He was badly put out, but when he reached the hotel, he immediately took it to the clerk and asked him to please translate it. The clerk regarded it in apparent indignation, and gruffly replied: 'You'll have to leave this hotel at once, sir! You can't stay here another minute.' And poor, astounded Jack was hustled out, bag and baggage."

"His curiosity over the mysterious card was only becoming more and more intense as events chased each other in such startling succession, and after establishing himself in another hotel, he took it to the clerk there for an interpretation—and was summarily fired from it also."

The drummer here paused to take a whiff or two at his neglected cigar, and by this time quite a crowd was standing around listening, and everybody seemed very much interested.

"Well, to make a long story short, he was bounced from five different hotels on account of that blamed card, and the worst part of it was he never found out what was on it. By the time he had been ejected the fifth time he concluded he had better return to America. He had his baggage sent to the steamer, and the first person he met when he got aboard was an old friend—and one who understood French. After a hearty greeting he said: 'Oh, Paul, how lucky! I've got a card in my grip which I wish you'd read for me! You must promise me, though, that you won't get mad, for I don't know what's on it, myself, any more than you do.' Paul promised.

"Jack went to his grip and opened it, but the card was gone. He had lost it."

The drummer at this juncture straightened out his limbs, puffed vigorously at his cigar, and started away without cracking a smile.

The gaping auditors began to look at each other with various moods reflected in their astonished countenances. One looked foolish, another looked afraid that there was some "catch" and he'd be the first sucker to bite, while still another was visibly very badly disappointed.

Nobody said anything. Perhaps they thought there was more to come, but the drummer only [stared indifferently up and down the lunch room in silence and appeared to have entirely forgotten the little story.

Presently one conscientious old gentleman, with eye-glasses and chin whiskers, bolder than the others, mustered up courage enough to ask protestingly:

"But, my friend, you didn't tell us what was on the card?"

"How the devil should I know?" replied the drummer with a superior air. "Didn't I tell you he'd lost it?"

Those who heard the story are still wondering what was on that card, and were unanimous in the opinion that it was a deuced mean trick in the drummer to spoil such a good story at its most interesting stage.

One day this week a report was scattered broadcast throughout the Rossington section of the county that Wesley Cockrell, a well known colored man was dead. Among the colored people of the vicinity there were heard many expressions of regret, and quite a number quit work the following day, and went to the family burial ground to witness the interment. Dozens came many miles, and the grave had already been dug. The minutes became hours, and at length the sorrowing but impatient concourse drove and walked to the house of the deceased, who was found on top of his humble domicile repairing the roof and who was perhaps the only colored man within a radius of several miles who had not heard of his demise. As he wasn't quite ready to be buried he apologized for disappointing them, and the crowd dispersed.

Miss Mary Halloran will entertain the J. U. G. club next Wednesday evening. PLEASANT EVENTS. The Delphi society held its weekly Thursday afternoon meeting with Mrs. George C. Wallace. The study of English history and English authors, poets, dramatists and celebrities is still occupying the attention of the club. At the Thursday meeting some excellent papers were read, as follows: "The English Revolution," Mrs. W. E. Cave; "Pope and Lady Mary Montague," Mrs. J. A. Rudy; "Addison and Steele," Miss Virginia Reed; "Gray and Swift," Mrs. John P. Campbell. The society holds its next meeting with Mrs. J. A. Rudy Thursday afternoon of next week. The J. U. G. club was entertained Tuesday evening by Mr. Abram L. Weil, at his home on North Sixth street. Miss Martha Leech won the lady's prize, a pretty figure; Miss Phil Pointer, of Owensboro, was awarded the visitor's prize, a souvenir spoon; Messrs. Roy Culley and Will Bradshaw took for the gentlemen's prize, a pocket knife, and Mr. Bradshaw received it. Mrs. Herman Hecht was hostess of the Young Jewish Ladies' Sewing circle Tuesday morning. The Monday Afternoon club met with Miss Florence Co. Yeiser, at Sixth and Madison streets. A literary afternoon was enjoyed by the club members. The reports were excellent, showing careful study of the subject, "Bacon." A large attendance gave interest to the meeting. The Wee club gave a dance in the Campbell block last Monday night, which proved a very delightful affair to those who attended. They were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Urbansky, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Herbert, Misses Effie Tres, Linda Dingeld, Ruth Wiltach, Lena Hodges, Katie Hodges, Ella Brown, Minnie Roberts, Messrs. Frank Gardner, Charles Wiltach, Charles Crow, Albert Hawkins, Maurice Marx, R. C. Benner, John Ripley, Will Bryant, Frank Moore, Russell Long, Clifford Wilson. Mrs. Robt. D. Reeves has evinced herself a superior hostess, as all who experienced her hospitality Wednesday afternoon can bear witness. Mrs. Reeves entertained her many friends at cards at her home, on Jefferson street. There were about twelve tables. Mrs. Campbell Flournoy and Miss Myrtle Decker cut for the first prize, a cut glass sugar bowl and cream pitcher. Mrs. Koger was awarded the consolation prize, a Hungarian vase, and Miss Mary Boswell won the lone hand prize, a miniature. The large dining hall of the Craig boarding house was seated to its utmost capacity last Tuesday evening.

despite the inclemency of the weather, at the musicale given by the ladies of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. The program was well rendered, Mr. Chas. M. Davis being the director and accompanist. The participants were: Mrs. Austin Tyndall, Misses Mary Corbett, Adah Brazelton, Virginia Leach, May Davis, and Messrs. Robert Chastain, Emmet S. Bagby and Chas. M. Davis. The sum of $45 was realized by the ladies, the amount to be donated to church purposes. Miss Lillie Winstead entertained a merry gathering of young folks at a dinner party Thursday evening. The young ladies of Grace church are preparing to produce the play "Brass Buttons" in the dining hall of the Palmer house next Monday evening. The play promises to be in every respect a brilliant success. Some of the prettiest and most vivacious young ladies and some of the best talent in the city are to personate the seven female characters that comprise the play. Every body is impatient to witness the dramatic talent of our home girls. A large crowd will doubtless go to enjoy themselves. A pretty stage is being erected whereon the fair players will shine to advantage. Enthusiasm among the dramatist personae runs high. The young ladies to take part are Misses Virginia Leach, Lillian Rudy, Mary Corbett, Martha Davis, Lucy Robison, Anne Reed and Ellis Winchester. The F. L. C. C. is a new organization just formed, boasting a membership of four exceedingly bright, pleasant seeking young people. Twice a month the club holds its meetings, the object of the members being to regale themselves with fowl, presumably of the domestic variety. Of course some lighted refreshments are supposed to tempt the dainty appetites of the venturesome four. Mr. Charles M. Davis is rehearsing his choir at the First Christian church, preparatory to Easter services. The music will eclipse any singing hitherto rendered by this able choir. Owing to the interest manifested in the cantata "Bethlehem" given some time ago, the choir will give the cantata "Daniel" in the near future. Mr. T. C. Cox, a tenor soloist and vocal instructor of Madisonville, Ky., who has ably assisted Mr. Charles M. Davis in his recital at that place will be in the city Sunday and will sing the offertories at the First Christian church, morning and evening. There is much talk among the musicians of the city in regard to the permanent organization of a musical club for the purpose of the study of music, the giving of recitals and the promoting of greater interest in the art with the general public. A great number of society people in the city are going down to New Orleans Mardi Gras this year. The program has been mapped out and promises to be the most elaborate ever given in the history of this popular festival. One of the directors of the new opera house will go to St. Louis in a few days to make arrangements in regard to decorations, scenery and curtains. The stage properties of the "Kentucky" will be as tasteful and as beautiful as it is possible to procure. The style of decorations will not be selected so much for gaudy display as for artistic excellence. Another of the directors will leave for New York next month to book plays for next season. The opening attraction will be the best ever witnessed in Paducah. The tickets will be sold at auction and by subscription. The directors contemplate averaging two attractions a week or about fifty or sixty a season. They will be of as high an order as can be obtained in this section of the country. To facilitate procuring the best attractions the directorship is considering the advisability of forming a circuit, consisting of Paducah, Memphis, Evansville, Owensboro, Terre Haute and Cairo. The "Kentucky" will be open to the public October 1. Mrs. John Jackson entertained at cards last night at Mrs. Morrow's complimentary to Misses Rosa Drane, of Clarksville, and Phil Pointer, of Owensboro. Miss Sinnott's pleasant guest, Enchre was the feature and the games very interesting. Miss Martha Leech won the lady's prize and Mr. Jos. Sinnott the gentleman's. Among those present were: Misses Martha Leech, Mary Boswell, Mary Halloran, Myrtle Decker, Elizabeth Sinnott, Ruby Cobb, Phil Pointer, of Owensboro, and Rosa Drane, of Clarksville, and Messrs. Will Rieke, Frank Rieke, Joe Sinnott, Richard Rudy, Will Bradshaw, J. B. Howell, Clarence Brown and W. B. McParron.

The Zenda club dance at their cozy dance hall Thursday evening was the last one that this very popular organization will give this winter. Another dance will be given just before Lent. This series of dances has proved most successful and the club intends to, properly inaugurate another for the spring and early summer. Besides the club dances the young lady members have given handsome functions, and, withal, the season of 1900-1901 will be remembered as a happy one by the Zenda members. Among those in attendance at Thursday's dance were: Mr. and Mesdames Harry Williamson, Harry Hinkle, Leslie Thompson, Misses Flora Dicke, Irene Schwab, Anna Street, May V. Patterson, Dot Brower, Lulu Kirchhoff, Luna Lemon, Mary Martin, Messrs. Roscoe Puryear, Henry Grace, Leon Glaves, Berlo Jenkins, Percy Paxton, Charles and Harry Fisher, Clarence Brown, Will Epstein, Charles Sugars, Allen Barclay, Claude Baker and Edwin Thompson.

ABOUT PEOPLE. Misses Grace Smith and Jennie Wire, two of Mayfield's prettiest girls, were the guests of Mrs. P. H. Stewart several days this week. Miss Susie Morton left today for a several weeks' visit to Jackson, Tenn. Misses Grace Smith and Jennie Wire, two of Mayfield's prettiest girls, were the guests of Mrs. P. H. Owing to the interest manifested in the cantata "Bethlehem" given some time ago, the choir will give the cantata "Daniel" in the near future.

Mr. T. C. Cox, a tenor soloist and vocal instructor of Madisonville, Ky., who has ably assisted Mr. Charles M. Davis in his recital at that place will be in the city Sunday and will sing the offertories at the First Christian church, morning and evening.

There is much talk among the musicians of the city in regard to the permanent organization of a musical club for the purpose of the study of music, the giving of recitals and the promoting of greater interest in the art with the general public.

A great number of society people in the city are going down to New Orleans Mardi Gras this year. The program has been mapped out and promises to be the most elaborate ever given in the history of this popular festival.

One of the directors of the new opera house will go to St. Louis in a few days to make arrangements in regard to decorations, scenery and curtains. The stage properties of the "Kentucky" will be as tasteful and as beautiful as it is possible to procure.

The style of decorations will not be selected so much for gaudy display as for artistic excellence. Another of the directors will leave for New York next month to book plays for next season. The opening attraction will be the best ever witnessed in Paducah. The tickets will be sold at auction and by subscription. The directors contemplate averaging two attractions a week or about fifty or sixty a season. They will be of as high an order as can be obtained in this section of the country. To facilitate procuring the best attractions the directorship is considering the advisability of forming a circuit, consisting of Paducah, Memphis, Evansville, Owensboro, Terre Haute and Cairo.

The "Kentucky" will be open to the public October 1. Mrs. John Jackson entertained at cards last night at Mrs. Morrow's complimentary to Misses Rosa Drane, of Clarksville, and Phil Pointer, of Owensboro.

Miss Sinnott's pleasant guest, Enchre was the feature and the games very interesting. Miss Martha Leech won the lady's prize and Mr. Jos. Sinnott the gentleman's. Among those present were: Misses Martha Leech, Mary Boswell, Mary Halloran, Myrtle Decker, Elizabeth Sinnott, Ruby Cobb, Phil Pointer, of Owensboro, and Rosa Drane, of Clarksville, and Messrs. Will Rieke, Frank Rieke, Joe Sinnott, Richard Rudy, Will Bradshaw, J. B. Howell, Clarence Brown and W. B. McParron.

The Zenda club dance at their cozy dance hall Thursday evening was the last one that this very popular organization will give this winter. Another dance will be given just before Lent. This series of dances has proved most successful and the club intends to, properly inaugurate another for the spring and early summer.

Besides the club dances the young lady members have given handsome functions, and, withal, the season of 1900-1901 will be remembered as a happy one by the Zenda members.

Among those in attendance at Thursday's dance were: Mr. and Mesdames Harry Williamson, Harry Hinkle, Leslie Thompson, Misses Flora Dicke, Irene Schwab, Anna Street, May V. Patterson, Dot Brower, Lulu Kirchhoff, Luna Lemon, Mary Martin, Messrs. Roscoe Puryear, Henry Grace, Leon Glaves, Berlo Jenkins, Percy Paxton, Charles and Harry Fisher, Clarence Brown, Will Epstein, Charles Sugars, Allen Barclay, Claude Baker and Edwin Thompson.

The F. L. C. C. is a new organization just formed, boasting a membership of four exceedingly bright, pleasant seeking young people. Twice a month the club holds its meetings, the object of the members being to regale themselves with fowl, presumably of the domestic variety. Of course some lighted refreshments are supposed to tempt the dainty appetites of the venturesome four.

Mr. Charles M. Davis is rehearsing his choir at the First Christian church, preparatory to Easter services. The music will eclipse any singing hitherto rendered by this able choir.

PROXY TALKERS.

Use of the Phonograph for Political Orators is Popular.

The employment of the phonograph as a mechanical substitute for the tired or bashful candidate is likely to be an interesting feature of the approaching general election. For some years the talking machine has played an important part in the politics of America, where in many instances the candidate has in the retirement of his own home contented himself while breathing his political views into the funnel of a phonograph and allowing the machine to do the rest on tour.

In the hands of a capable agent, and under the control of a popular chairman, the meeting of electors takes place just as if the candidates were present in person, and with certain added advantages which many unsuccessful candidates will readily appreciate. For the unpopular candidate the phonograph as a clockwork expounder of political opinions is an unexcelled blessing. The hostile constituency may roar their hostile with unfriendly criticism, it may refer to the candidate in every unpublishable term imaginable, it may even want to throw antiquated vegetables at him, but the machine, deaf, blind and impervious, will go right along, steadily grinding out its proprietor's views on the war of the youthful offenders act without even pausing to say: "Gentlemen, I am much touched," when a retired egg breaks impotently inside the funnel. By a simple contrivance the phonograph may be made to register the feeling of the audience, so that when the meeting is over the records can be sent back to the candidate, who reproduces the proceedings and perhaps gratified that he did not attend in person. Only one English member of parliament has so far addressed his constituents by means of the phonograph. This enterprising gentleman is Frederick John Dorniman, M. P. for Falmouth and Penryn.

The Louisville Post of yesterday says: There will soon be an important meeting at Madison, when Capt. Frank M. Dougherty will deliver his initial lecture in behalf of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, its aims and objects. The meeting will be an important one to that city, for much will be said and done towards securing a lock and dam across the Ohio, just below its limits, which, if secured, will mean that the Marine ways will not only remain where they are, but that they will be enlarged, better equipped and otherwise be a greater benefit to the people there than they have ever been. Capt. Dougherty will in the near future visit Hartford, Ohio county; Bowling Green, and other points along Green and Barren rivers and then will go to important towns on the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers, to tell the people all about what the Ohio Valley Improvement association has up its sleeve. He is well known to river men at all points, so an introduction from this source would be superfluous.
